Correspondence of the Wing & Courier

BOSTON, March 1, 1839 I have now been in this city nearly a week! and find that the affairs of Maine are almost the -mile topile ef converantum-il- ig speil an igier, est more intense than I had any idea of I was present at a very exenting debate on the subject in the Massachusetts Senate yesterday, (which, by the way, is very meagerly reported in the city papers of this morning). Maine has many warm and able tracada there and yet fam surprized at the ignorance that prevails to a great cutent in the community. I heard one Senater that raised his voice in opposition to " any rash proceeding" obstive that Gen. Hodedon had changed his route from the Aroostook road the meads of education which this would fur to the floulton road in consequence of the ice mish breaking up in the Arosetook, which river he would have to cross if he took the former route There is a plenty of spirit here but not ' accord-. ing to knowledge". It is impossible to convince ... any that the land in Maine claimed by the Province of New Brunswick, many thing were then a barren waste, lit only to be inhabitest by Cagrabau whose food is inon and stinted shrubberg. But get should Sir John the dauntferr, put his threat in execution of invading our city that would exlist in her service at 24 hours notise. There was a slight fall of anow lieve the hands of the people than left where it is, to becent portions thereof. Always alming at an fast night, tet to-day the weather is mild as give stimulus to extravegance and favoriteism amicable adjustment of the dispute, both parties summer and benutiful beyond description.

Sept 2 1836 JONAS SNYBER On Low Spinits Low spirits is a certain state of the mind accompanied by indigestion, wherein the greatest exils are apprehended upon the slight est grounds and the worst consequences imagined Ancient writers supposed this disease to be confined to those particular regions of the abdomen technically called hypochondria, which are si uated on the right or left side of that cavity, whence comes the name hypochondriasis SYMPTOMS The common corporeal symptoms are flatulency in the stomach or bowels, acrid eructations, costiveness, spasmodic pains, giddiness, dimness of sight, palpitations, and often an utter inability of fixing the attention upon any subject of importance, or engaging in any thing that demands vigor or coorage. Also languidness, the mind be comes trenable, thoughtful, desponding melancholy and dejected, accompanied with a total derange ment of the nervous system. The mental feelings and peculiar train of ideas that haunt the imagina tion and overwhelm the judgment exhibitan infinite diversity. The wisest and best of men are as open to this affliction as the weakest CAUSES A sedentary life of any kind especial ly severe study protracted to a late hour in the night, and rarely reflexed by social intercourse, or exercise a dissolute liabit, great excess in eating and drinking the immoderate use of mercury violent purgatives the suppression of some habitual er Church Music, furnished in shy quentity, at the discharge or four confinued eruption ; relaxation or debility of one or more important organs with in abdomen is frequent cause.

TREATMENT The principal objects of treatment are, to remove indigestion to strengthen the body, and to eliven the spirits, which may be promoted by exercise early hours, regular meals and pleasant conversation The bowels (if contive) being carefully regulated by the occasional use of a mild aporient. We know nothing better-calculated to obtain this end, than Dr. Wm. Evans' Aperient Pills, heing mild and certain in their operation. The bow-Pills (which are tone., agondyne, & anti spasuodic) are an infallible remedy & without dispute have proved a great blatsing to the numerous public.

Some physicians have recommeded a free use of mercury but it should not be resorted to; as in many cases it will greatly aggravate at mptome
